A big THANK YOU to each of you for your prayers, as several of you have inquired about my visa, and about my brother-in-law David in hospital in China. My current Indian visa expired today, with still no decision from the Foreign Registration Office (FRO) to my application for extension. I thought I would quickly have to leave the country at this point. However after further consultation I realized that since my application was received and acknowledged, and is officially 'under process' according to the FRO website, I should be free to stay in country until they complete the process and issue a decision. If I leave while in process I would forfeit the visa. Only limitation is that I'm not free to leave while it's still 'under process' — but right now I'm just glad to be here and celebrate Christmas with my friends! Ultimately I'm trusting our Father to move the hearts of the officials according to His will and in His time. David has been in hospital now for a week, and looks to have to stay over Christmas, but at least he and Judy are together and have a spacious room and even little kitchenette. The good news is after removing 3 liters of fluid from around his lungs and a battery of tests there are no indicators of cancer; but they think the excessive fluid build-up is most likely due to heart failure. More testing is going on, and your continued prayers are highly valued. Blessings for a peace and joy-filled Christmas, Cindy
